WALKOUT AT NEW BRUNSWICK MINE

AUBURN 49ER CHIEF TELLS CHAMBER OF GOLD RUSH PLANS

GRASS VALLEY: Ray Dorer, be-whiskered president of the Auburn 49er Association, was guest speaker at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Holbrooke Hotel. Dorer described Auburn's plans for the annual Gold Rush Revival, scheduled for June 6, 7 and 8.

Auburn, he said, plans to spend nearly $24,000 dollars on their annual celebration. Last year they cleared about $8,000 on the celebration, despite heavy expenses.

Dorer, sporting a long and handsome growth of curly brown whiskers, was attired in a black silk shirt, flowing red tie. He offered the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce what ever cooperation might be desired.

Frontier Day celebration chairman William H. Stinson reported on progress of plans for the mammoth 44th of July program. Stinson, was as usual, attired as a Wild Westerner as were Ray Kronemeyer, Mrs. Virginia Levy, Mrs. Genevieve Short. Dr. Daniel Hirsch was also western with a black shirt, sharp goatee and broad-brimmed black sombrero.

Stinson announced that Laura Griffin Rowe had composed a musical piece specifically for the Frontier Day celebration. Art Remple stated that the first dance would be held Saturday night at the Veterans Memorial Building. Ladies will be admitted free and gentlemen will be admitted providing they hold forty-niner association membership cards.

Advantages of the '49 cards, Stinson related, include free admission to dances, free meals and a 50% reduction in the cost of many planned activities and entertainments.

Harry Clayton, Nevada City Whiskerino Club chief, stated that memberships in the 49er Association would be honored at all Nevada City Whiskerino activities, and it was stated that all Nevada City Whiskeina card holders would be accorded ino card holders would be accorded the 4934 Association. Rumors to the contrary, Clayton announced, were untrue.

Mitch Painter, president of the Gold Trail Riders, announced that his organization would participate in the Fourth festivities, and that the group would also be represented in the Auburn Gold Rush revival show.

Of great interest to Chamber of Commerce members was Dorer's description of Auburn's gold-panning contests, one of the most popular gold-panning events. In this stunt, $80 worth of gravel gold is distributed in several yards of gravel. The privilege of panning the resultant mixture is sold for 20c per pan. Easterners who find colors in their pans have reported great satisfaction. Dorer said that the forty-niner group broke even on this concession.

Gilbert Tennis and William Wilson spoke briefly on youth recreation. Leadership personnel, they stated, rather than financial aid was the primary problem to be solved.

William Durbrow stated that plenty of water for water fights would be available. Mrs. Verona Hill, new field secretary of the Farm Bureau, was introduced. Helen Prigley and Mrs. Effie Myers offered the co-operation of the B. P. W. C. with the chamber's' Fourth plans.

STRIKE PROTESTS FIRING OF MINER ON HIGHGRADE CHARGE

GRASS VALLEY: The afternoon (5-12) shift at the New Brunswick Mine, 5 miles east of Grass Valley, walked out at 5 o'clock yesterday in protest of the firing of "Red" Anderson, accused of highgrading by company authorities.

At 8 p. m. last night miners,, numbering 200, met at the Women's Improvement Club building at 217 South Church Street. Anderson spoke at length and stated his side of the story. William Lankesly, President of the Mother Lode Mine and Mill Workers CIO affiliate Union, presided.

Miners present at the meeting decided unanimously by a show of hands, not to return to work unless Anderson was reinstated. They also decided to meet at 11:15 p. m. on the road near the Idaho-Maryland Mine to attempt to persuade the miners coming off shift at that time to join their movement.

Neil O'Donnell, general manager of the Idaho Maryland characterized the walkout as a "wildcat strike." The mine, he said, had a contract in force with the Mine Workers Protective League, and would not deal with the CIO unit.

O'Donnell went on to say that company policy dictated peremptory dismissal of any employee caught highgrading. He stated that highgrade ore was definitely found among Anderson's clothing hanging in the mine dry room.

When Anderson reported for work at 5 p. m., together with the rest of the afternoon shift, he was dismissed by the company watchman, informed that highgrade ore had been found in his shirt. When Lankersly, CIO Local president, took the matter up with company authorities, he was informed of the ruling on grading.

Lankesly then called a meeting of the shift,, and it was determined to walk off the job in protest at the firing of "Red" Anderson. The 8 o'clock meeting was also scheduled. Art Remple's public address service was employed from 7 to 8 p. m. to announce the meeting.

At the evening meeting in the women's club building, it was decided that, in addition to meeting the shift coming off work from the Idaho Maryland at 11:15, to also seek to persuade the shift going to work in the morning to join the sympathy strike.

Union leaders expressed at the nection with yesterday's occurrence; nection with yesterda's occurrence: Their claim. was that the highgrade had been planted in Anderson's clothes because the mine company had "a grudge" against him. Union officials agreed the company could fire all CIO unionists one-by-one in this manner. Their action was taken, they said, in order to militate toward securing a contract with the mine company and thus prevent a recurrence of the situation as they interpreted it.

Anderson, in detailing the situation to the CIO meeting, claimed that there was no ore, and not even any color on the rise at which he worked and that he had not had any opportunity to secure highgrade from any other part of the New Brunswick.

The position of the company, according to O'Donnell was that highgrade had been found in Anderson's clothing, and that he might have obtained it from anywhere in the mine.

The books, adopted by the state superintendent of schools, the state curriculum commission and the state board of education, contains pictures and material which, the jury said, "is so arranged and so worded as to impress the minds of children from the seventh grade on that the American form of government is inferior to that of Russia.

The jury also recommended that certain changes be made in the salary paid to the Placer County superior judge, as well as the salaries paid to the district attorney, the county auditor and the county superintendent of schools.

The jury said that it believed that the salaries of these public officials should be made commensurate with the salaries received by like officials in other counties comparable in size with Placer County..

CAMP BEALE MAY BECOME A CITY IF PLAN GOES THROUGH

MARYSVILLE: The possibility of converting Camp Beale into a "brand new, read-made community offering employment and adequate housing to some 1500 citizens" and containing some 40 businesses and iidustries is discussed in detail in a brochure prepared by Warren Shingle and Pat Shannon as "a private surve."

In making their survey available, Shannon and Shingle emphasized their survey is in no way official nor the work of any group. They said they compiled the facts and made the proposal "as private citizens intrested in converting the camp into a useful adjunct to the welfare of this area."

The two men said the figures were the best they were able to gather, but said they could not guarantee them to be absolutely accuate in all cases.

Purchase Price Estimated At About $15,000,000

The idea expressed in the brochure is for the purchase of the camp, its facilities and equipment, at a price of approximately $15,000,000.

That sum, the brochure states, "will cover costs of acquisition and reconstruction; provide reserves for administration and interest as well as surety bonds and other miscellaneous items."

The survey states: "The combined net incomes from the various enterprises will—retire the debt in an approximate five years."

Following are some highlights of the plan:

Proposed Industries: Meat packing plant and ranch operation. Approximately 60,000 head of cattle could be grazed and cared for on Beale acreage. A slaughterhouse and storage plant would employ 100 men; ranching, 500 men and a tannery, 300 men.

A laundry and dry cleaning plant would employ 20.

A bakery, wholesale and retail 25 persons.

GV MINERS EDGE INDIANS 6-3 IN EXTRA FRAME

MARYSVILLE: It took eight innings to do it but Grass Valley Miners finally "dood" it against Marysville Indians in Marysville yesterday scoring three runs in the extra frame to break a 3-3 tie and go on to win, 6-3.

Wendell Moe tied the game up the first time in the fourth inning, poling out a homer with none on for the first extra base hit of the game. The score stood 1-1.

Grass Valley broke up the ball game however in the top half of the eighth when Halverstadt connected with one of Higgins' deliveries for a four bagger. Succeeding runs came as an anti-climax as Brown of Grass Valley shut out the Indians in their final time at bat.

Friday afternoon the Indians travel to Nevada City.

THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L.

As an amateur botanist we have noted that some plants are perennial, others biennial and a large and choice number are annuals. In the latter category, we should say, whiskers belong. They begin to bud with itching and twitching in May, and come to their full and flowing florescence about July Fourth.

As one of earth's flora we have alwas been a bit doubtful whether to classify the facial bush as a hedge plant or as a pasture grass. Proobably it is closely allied to privet, since it can be trimmed to any shape the grower desires, and continues to grow zestfully despit all discouragements, such as the characte of the soil, lack of, or too much irrigation, and rigorous pruning. The whisker is a crop that can be depended upon.

Uninhibited whiskers will riot, they will take the place, as gardners say, in this case, the male physiogomy. Beautiful or not, the whiskers will cover any mug, and if left to take their natural course will form a windshield against the weather, covering a man's entire abdomen. In ancient times, the beard was often braided so as not to interfere with the wearer's activities, in swinging the sythe, or in lifting and dribbling the brew.

There are various classifications and styles in beards, some of them handed down from the time of the Tower of Babel, when men, unable to make their fellow workmen understand their language, often seized the nearest whiskers with the good right and gesticulated with the left. As a result beards were closely cropped for a thousand years after the tower was abandoned. Men wore their beards in stubble form, and even now walking up Broad Street, we spot whiskers that are thwarted every morning with a pair of shears.

As time wore on, women began to have their say-so regarding whiskers. The did not, of course, in those times, demand anything, but it was noted that men who applied a flint edge to parts of their face and left a clearing here and there, usually mated with the loveliest of the fair. Thus styles arose in facials hirsuteness. One would adorn his jowls with hairy banners that came to be known as the General Burnside style. Sometimes the mostache as allowed to ramble out into the burnsides, and other times the upper lip was kept barren as the chin, and as clean.

The New England sea captains of China clipper are, credited with hallowed-face style of beard which consisted of permitting whiskers to grow anywhere but upon the face. The face looked out,, as it were, from a bush, sometimes a flaming red bush, or halo. It was supposed to afford protection to the larynx from the cold, salt breeze.

As the world becomes more civilized, more attention was paid to the male face. Some religious sects adopted a sign manual of a special style in trimming the male whiskers. There came into vogue the deacon whisker, consisting of a shoe brush that grew only from the chin. Bristles were permitted to grow but an inch, and on Sunday morning only, were immaculate. They were curried with a pocket comb after every meal, so that was not tangling and no hardening of stray food particles. In some cases the deacon whisker was permitted to grow longer so as to cover the Adam's apple, which was then considered a blemish on the otherwise perfect creature.

There was also the Imperial whisker, so called becase some of the French Louie kings were partial to it. As a matter of fact, it undoubtedly derives from the male goat, the only animal which dangles whiskers from its lower jaws. However, following the French Revolution and extinctions of a lond line of Imperial bearded kings, it became quite fashionable among those in the Old South whose sympathies were with the French kings, to wear the decorative imperial. Buffalo Bill wore a majectic imperial, consisting of a twisted group of whiskers apparently depending from the lower lip, but really growing stoutly from the chin. The moustache formed a kind of cornice on the upper lip. Buffalo Bill was undoubtely a good shot, but it is questionable whether his imperial did not enhance his prestige as much as his trigger finger.

SOLID BOOKING

For the avid reader or the occasional peruser, built in bookcases that accommodate all the many book sizes are one of the most convenient caretakers, says the General Electric Home Bureau. Build the shelves not only to the height but also the depth of the books. One shelf shallow, another deeper. The shelves can be evenly aligned in front. The diffeence in depth is made against the partitition or back of the case.

CREAKING BOARDS

To quiet creaking boards, drive a couple of flooring nails diagonally through the offending boards into the sub-flooring, says the General Electric Home Bureau. If that does not do the trick then thin wedges driven between the sub-floor and the joists will certainly take effect.

CURTAIN CUE

Plan your garden to be an ever-changing wall mural suggests the General Electric Home Bureau, by arranging your outdoor flowers and shrubs so that they will be pleasing to view from wide picture windows during any season of the year..

QUIET PLEASE

Do even the smallest noises in the dead of night annoy you? To eliminate the loud clicking of light switches, the General Electric Home Bureau suggests that you install silent mercury light switches instead.

COFFEE CAKE DOUGH

Breakfast can become one of the most pleasant affairs of the day when it's spiced up a bit with one of the many variants of

Coffee Cake Dough

¼ cup warm water
2 cakes yeast
1 cup cold water
1 cup milk
½ cup sugar or honey
1/3 cup part vegetable shortening, part fortified margarine
7 cups enriched flour (about)
1 teaspoon salt
3 eggs, beaten
½ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon allspice

Crumble the yeast into warm water; set aside to soften. Bring water and milk to boiling, then remove from heat at once. Add sugar or honey; add shortening and margarine; stir until melted. Cool to lukewarm. Add 2 cups of the flour; beat until smooth. Set in warm place (never hot) to rise to double its bulk. Add eggs, salt and spices. Mix well. Add remaining flour or sufficient amount to make a soft but not sticky dough. Turn out on floured board and knead until dough feels "elastic and spongy" to touch. Return to well greased pan or bowl, cover with clean cloth and again place in warm place to rise to double its bulk (about 2 hours when 2 cakes of yeast are used. If dough is made up to rise overnight, then use only one cake yeast). When ligh., punch down and shape as desire for sweet buns, tea ring or coffe. br...

MOTHER'S DAY

All America will join in this year's salute to the nation's mothers next Sunday with church services, festivals, picnics—and just plain, old-fashioned kisses for Mom. She deserves them. Wear a red carnation if your mother lives, a white one if she does not. And pack along a box of candy when you drop in to see her. Dad shouldn"t mind all this attention to Mother. His day comes in just a few weeks' time.

Today's mother must contend with all manner of distractions of modern living, and with moral values that have been twisted and distorted by two global wars in the last few decades. She must keep her head and stride resolutely forward while understanding and universal hope struggle against confusion and disillusionment.

Mother's Day has served much more than a purely idealistic role since its inception in 1907, and its first official recognition by proclamation of President Wilson in 1914. For example, the Maternity Center Association of New York embraced the occasion in 1931 to cite the high death rate from childbirth, and to emphasize that proper medical care could save thousands of lives. That message has borne fruit through the years, and today maternal and infant death rates are the lowest on record.

The problems of motherhood in this atomic age are sobering ones. Mother molds the character of children who will one day take their place in a world spinning toward an uncertain future. The moral and ethical values imbued in those children, largely by their mother's precepts, will regulate the kind of life future generations will know.

MOTHER

She traveled the journey before you
She has known all the cost of the way;
She paid out the price to its fullness,
That motherhood only can pay.

She loved when the world was against you,
She hoped—when your hope sank and died;
She clung to your hand when the clinging
Left scars in her heart deep and wide.

She labored—and loved—and was happy,
For deep in her kind heart she knew
Your kindness and love would repay her,
For all that she did—just for you.

WASHINGTON NOTES

By Congressman Clair Engle

TIMBER INSECT CONTROL

There are two matters now before congress of vital interest to the lumber industry. One is the appropriation request for money to control the pine bark beetle and other insects. These insects are a more serious menace now to our standing timber than fires where control has been adequately financed. Last week a group of western congressmen appeared before the appropriations committee requesting adequate funds for this purpose. It is hoped that we will be able to prevent any cut in the budget request, although it is the policy of the appropriations committee to cut everybody.

The second matter is the bill to authorize the federal government to coordinate efforts in pest control. At present the federal government is not authorized to work cooperatively with other owners in the control of insects. I have introduced a bill on this subpject, as has Congressman Coff of Idaho. This week we had a hearing on the subject before the committee on agriculture. I am of the belief that the bill will be given favorable consideration..

WOOL PROGRAM

The wool growers of my district are watching with interest the progress of the wool bill now being considered by congress. The bill, recently voted out by the committee on agriculture, authorizes the continuation of support prices at the 1946 level. It further authorizes the commodity credit corporation to sell from the 450,000,000 stockpile below parity (hich means at a loss) and authorizes the secretary of agriculture to put on import fees up to 50% of the value of imported wool. There is going to be a terrific fight on this bill on the floor of the house led by former majority leader of the house John McCormack of Mass., and present speaker of the house, Joe Martin, also of Mass. The eastern wool interests are against the bill,, contending that it will hold an artificially high price and will cost them mone. In addition, those people who have been supporting the reciprocal trade program will fight the import fee provision on the ground that it is in direct opposition to the reciprocal trade program and is effect a tariff. Recently all of us interested in the wool industry appeared before the rules committee to get the bill out onto the floor of the house but at that time we did not have enough favorable votes on the rules committee to do it. I have talked to several members of the ommittee who are against us and I think that a rule will be granted this week.

SUCCESSFUL TINTING

One of the secrets to successful tinting or dyeing of garments, says the General Electric Consumers Institute is to remove old colors,, even if you are re-tinting to freshen up a freshen up a faded color. Use a commercial bleach or a commecial color remover. Follow commercial tinting instuctions to the letter.

GOLD TRAIL RIDERS

GRASS VALLEY: The Gold Trail Riders regular meeting will be held Friday night, May 9, at the Improvement Club, 217 South Church Street in Grass Valley. There will be a short business meeting beginning at 7:30 p. m. Following this will be a showing of western apparel for the benefit of club members as well as any others interested. The public is cordially invited to attend this showing which will begin at 8 p. m.

CAMPTONVILLE CELEBRATES SCHOOL WEEK

CAMPTONVILLE: Public Schools Week was held in Camptonville and Thursday was marked by an invitation to all parents to attend school that day to observe school procedure. The first four grades, under the direction of Mrs. Clifford Williams, put on a skit about trees stressing their importance in our daily lives and how each child can do his bit to safeguard this natural resource.

Mrs. Barbara Tabor directed the youngsters in songs and rhythm band numbers.

Interesting examples of handicraft were on display in both the first four grades' room and in Mrs. Mary Jackson's room which includes 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades. The primary grades exhibited a model of Sutter's Fort in molding clay which was made in conjunction with the study of early California history.

FARM POWER IS CHEAP
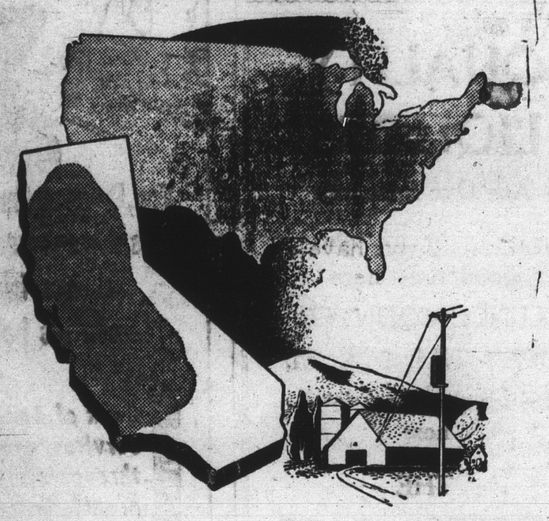
NORTHERN and CENTRAL CALIFORNIA



The electric power bills paid by farmers of Northern and Central California are among the lowest in the nation. Latest rural electrification statistics show the following comparison in average cost per kilowatt-hour for rural power service:

	Average Cost per Kwhr
R. E. A. Cooperatives	3.67 cents
SOURCE: Official report of the Administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration 1946.
All other utilities (National Average)	2.37 cents
SOURCE: Edison Electric Institute.
P. G. and E.	1.68 cents

The widespread use of cheap electric power has contributed much to the national leadership now held by California agriculture in crop diversity and production. Electric-powered pumps irrigate the lands to bring higher yields and crop frequency. Electric-driven mechanical helpers offer the farmer speed and economy in performing his farm chores. And in the farm home, electric appliances provide all the conveniences and comfort of urban living.

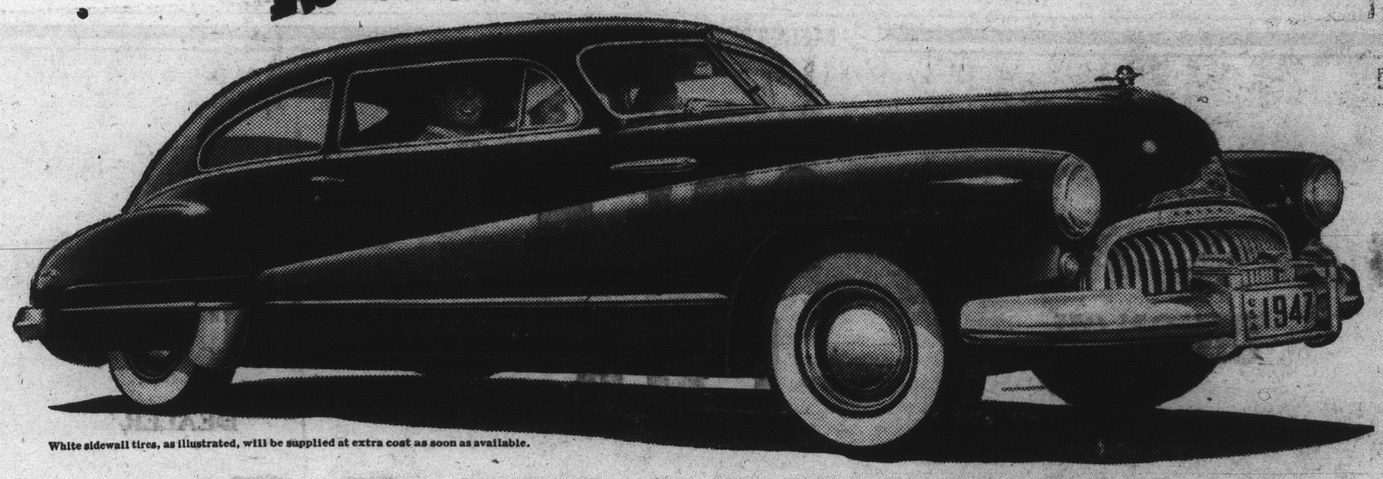
Every Line is a look at Tomorrow



White sidewall tires, as illustrated, will be supplied at extra cost as soon as available.

You spot it on the highway every time a Buick comes along:

Here you meet the future face-to-face.

Here you see the clean, rich, uncluttered design that marks the swing away from what was to what is going to be.

Here's the sweep and flow of fender line that's called for by a streamlined age — here's the solid, steady look that spells roadability — the broad beam that means room — the massive bonnet that tells of Fireball power aplenty.

Here's grace, here's ability, here's sturdy dependability — all wrapped up in one handsome package that's not merely up-to-the-times but ahead of it.

Here are the good looks that bespeak good works; you hardly have to be told of precisions carried to ten-thousandths of an inch, of materials searched out from the finest to be found.

Any wonder that such a creation is America's most wanted automobile? Any wonder people pass up cars that may be easier to get to wait for a car that's going to stay fresh and new and modern-looking?

The simple fact is that you're buying in the future when you buy any good car today.

Why not settle on the one that most obviously foretells what the future will be — that has the most in it of what is to come?

Buick dealers' showrooms are kept pretty bare of display models by the eagerness of Buick buyers to "take over" the first minute they can.

But you'll be greeted in every one of them with courtesy and sincere interest in getting your Buick at the first minute possible.

Drop in — talk it over — and insure yourself a happy future by placing your order now. We'll take it, with or without a car to trade.

LONDON ENGINEER COMPLAINS

H. U. Maxfield, chief owner of the stock in the Original Sixteen to One Mine at Alleghany has recently received a letter from an old friend in London, an eminent engineer. The letter gives a gloomy picture of economic and political conditions in Great Britain. It follows:

Dear Mr. Maxfield:

Delighted to receive your letter of February 28th on my return from the Persian Gulf. Earlier in the year I was in Palestine and at Christmas attended the Bethlehem midnight service. So you see I am still on the move, but must slack off a bit some time I suppose. I flew out to Egypt and had nights and days at Malta. Cairo, and Baghdad and on the flight back stops at cities, Sicily and Marseilles. All very comfortable.

Yes, you are right. We are having a devil of a time in England and everyone with anything is terribly worried. Our labor government seems intent on reducing everyone to one comon level and depriving all who have saved a little of their earnings after years of hard work, widows living on gilt edged income are in desperation with taxation taking half and other taxations going up or being introduced to subsidize laziness.

Labor gets what it asks; then wont work because they want to expend it on pleasure which they do and have work when it suits them. Any dismissal results in a strike so fantastic costs of everything are just charged up and passed on to the consumer. Thus the vicious circle of inflation procedes.

Nationalization of industries is the biggest fraud of history for the sort takes our railways, transport, coal mines and steel works at ridiculously low prices and gives in exchange some paper of almost useless value. The public get paper bonds. Foods go up in value every day as inflation proceeds. Unless the government is chucked out or sees sense England is doomed to a state of beggary.

All capital is being dragged from peopleand squandered. Free education for those that get no education at all but only schooling with teaching of socialism, communism, equality of subjects and such like bosh. Free meals to all children at school, free medical attention, free holidays, so most families can drink and gamgle and generally indulge in dissipation.

Dog racing, horse racing, pools, etc. take a big lot of the earnings. Workmen do not mind paying two pounds for whiskey and gin whereas formerly they were content with beer. Everyone smokes all day and half the night and the cost is often around 10 shillings a day. Women are the worst offenders in smoking. We go short of milk because all the school children are given milk which they wont drink and for the most part it is thrown away down drains. drains.

Robbery is now as bad as in America and worked by the cleverest, arrogant crooks and army deserters used to butchery and killing. This is the state of affairs, when all our cities are in ruins and not a start made on building. Only repair work when possible and more at work putting in a few hours daily between meals, rests, tea drinking etc.

Food is terribly scarce and an awful price. The bad winter floods mean no vegetables except imported and meat issue is infinitesmal. Fish is terribly expensive. Fuel is much worse when obtainable and that is rare.

Lighting costs,, heating, rationed and such coal as is allowed, largely dirt and slate, so of little real value. With all this we are expected to feed Germans, the cause of all this distress in the wold. Equality of sacrifice seems to have forgotten or conveniently overlooked.

Fortunately we still have a roof over our heads and my wife and I could put you up if ou will come over and we assure you of a royal welcome and a look around of our scarred city of London with plenty of open spaces now and fresh air, too fresh—or little sunshine. I would so like to see you again, but fear expense will not pemit us the journey to U. S. A. as we should love as my wife has a sister in California and relatives in Vancouver.

I fear we are in for a bad time in England and there is positively no hope of any improvement until men work, and unions permit men to put in a fair day's work. Limitation of output is supposed by many to give work to more—what a fallacy?

I am quite fit again after that malaria on my return and can still climb mountains and do staircases, two at a time. A little work has filtered in to keep me out of mischief, but it does little more than pay expenses of office. Thanks for news of the gold mine. What a wonder it is, all due to conservative finance and honest handling.

With kindest regards and best wishes.

COUNTER TOPS

In planning your kitchen counter tops for special purposes, the General Electric Home Bureau suggests use of a combination of materials; for instance, even though the rest of the counters are linoleums, it would be a good idea to have a small laminated wood section for cutting..

NO TRACKS

Bring your door mat in out of the cold and rain, suggests the General Electric Home Bureau: Sink it into the floor right inside the front door. Then the door can't push it around, people won't scuff it, or miss it) and less dirt will reach your rugs.
